This Leadership Conference is sponsored jointly by the Indiana Leadership Association (ILA) and the Indiana Rural Development Council (IRDC) in order to offer their members and all parties interested in leadership an expanded opportunity to learn and network. The idea for a joint conference sprang from the state legislature's mandated report that linked leadership development with other economic and quality of life issues around the state. Other contributing organizations include Indiana Agriculture Leadership Institute, Purdue University Cooperative Extension Services, Association of Indiana Counties, United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), and the Small Business Development Commission (SBDC).
